III. LAWS OF THE GAME AND DECISIONS OF THE BOARD

To consider the following proposals and amendments submitted under the regulations of the International Football Association Board.

1. Law 1 – The Field of Play (Submitted by FIFA)

Field surface

Present Text	Proposed Text
Matches may be played on natural or artificial surfaces, according to the rules of the competition.	Matches may be played on natural or artificial surfaces, according to the rules of the competition.
The colour of artificial surfaces must be green.	The colour of artificial surfaces must be green.
Where artificial surfaces are used in either competition matches between representative teams of member associations affiliated to FIFA or international club competition matches, the surface must meet the requirements of the FIFA Quality Concept for Artificial Turf or the International Artificial Turf Standard, unless special dispensation is given by FIFA.	Where artificial surfaces are used in either competition matches between representative teams of member associations affiliated to FIFA or international club competition matches, the surface must meet the requirements of the FIFA Quality Concept for Football Turf or the International Artificial Turf Standard, unless special dispensation is given by FIFA.

Reason

FIFA has renamed the FIFA Quality Concept for Artificial Turf. The new designation is the FIFA Quality Concept for Football Turf. This change should be reflected in the Laws of the Game to ensure consistency.

2. Law 3 – The Number of Players

(Submitted by The Scottish Football Association)

Official Competitions

Present Text	Proposed Text
Up to a maximum of three substitutes may be used in any match played in an official competition organised under the auspices of FIFA, the confederations or the member associations.	Up to a maximum of three substitutes may be used in any match played in an official competition organised under the auspices of FIFA, the confederations or the member associations. In the event of extra time being required to determine the winner of a match, the maximum substitutes allowed for each team will increase to 4 in such circumstances.
The rules of the competition must state how many substitutes may be nominated, from three up to a maximum of seven.	The rules of the competition must state how many substitutes may be nominated, from three up to a maximum of seven.

Reason

With the increasing number of matches now being played and the resultant demands on players, the opportunity to play an additional substitute in extra time would be of advantage to teams.

3. Law 4 – The Players' Equipment

(Submitted by The Scottish Football Association)

Basic Equipment

Present Text	Proposed Text
The basic compulsory equipment of a player comprises the following separate items; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A jersey or shirt with sleeves – if undergarments are worn, the colour of the sleeve must be the same colour as the sleeve of the jersey or shirt. • Shorts – if undershorts are worn, they must be of the same main colour as the shorts • Stockings <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Shinguards • Footwear 	The basic compulsory equipment of a player comprises the following separate items; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A jersey or shirt with sleeves – if undergarments are worn, the colour of the sleeve must be the same colour as the sleeve of the jersey or shirt. • Shorts – if undershorts are worn, they must be of the same main colour as the shorts • Stockings – if tape or similar material is applied externally it must be of the same main colour as the stockings <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Shinguards • Footwear

Reason

There is an increasing use of tape applied externally to stockings, primarily to ensure that shinguards stay in place. The tape can vary in width and often changes the predominant colour of the stocking. The proposal does not prevent the use of tape or similar material but ensures that there is no alteration to the team colours.

4. Law 7 – The Duration of the Match

(Submitted by FIFA)

Half-Time Interval

Present Text	Proposed Text
Players are entitled to an interval at half-time.	Players are entitled to an interval at half-time.
The half-time interval must not exceed 15 minutes.	The half-time interval must not exceed 20 minutes.
Competition rules must state the duration of the half-time interval.	Competition rules must state the duration of the half-time interval.
The duration of the half-time interval may be altered only with the consent of the referee.	The duration of the half-time interval may be altered only with the consent of the referee.

Reason

The location of the dressing rooms in certain stadiums around the world is such that the walk from and back to the field of play can take players and match officials much of the current 15-minute half-time interval.

It is therefore proposed that the maximum duration of the half-time interval be increased to 20 minutes.

5. Law 11 – Offside

(Submitted by FIFA)

Interpretation of the Laws of the Game and Guidelines for Referees

Infringements (page 100)

Present Text	Proposed Text
When an offside offence occurs, the referee awards an indirect free kick to be taken from the position of the offending player when the ball was last played to him by one of his team mates.	When an offside offence occurs, the referee awards an indirect free kick to be taken from the position of the offending player when the ball was last played to him by one of his team mates.
If a defending player steps behind his own goal line in order to place an opponent in an offside position, the referee must allow play to continue and caution the defender for deliberately leaving the field of play without the referee's permission when the ball is next out of play.	Any defending player leaving the field of play for any reason without the referee's permission shall, until he returns to the field of play, be considered to be on his own goal line or touchline for the purposes of offside. If the player left the field of play or delayed his return to the field of play deliberately, he must be cautioned when the ball is next out of play.

Reason

While there is a general understanding of the action to be taken when a defending player leaves the field of play placing an attacking player in an offside position, it is proposed that the wording of the Interpretation of the Laws of the Game and Guidelines be made more explicit in order to clarify this situation.

Amendment to Proposed Text

(Submitted by FIFA)

When an offside offence occurs, the referee awards an indirect free kick to be taken from the position of the offending player when the ball was last played to him by one of his team mates.

Any defending player leaving the field of play for any reason without the referee's permission shall be considered to be on his own goal line or touchline for the purposes of offside until the next stoppage in play. If the player leaves the field of play deliberately, he must be cautioned when the ball is next out of play.

6. Procedures to Determine the Winner of a Match or Home-And-Away

(Submitted by the Football Association of Wales)

Kicks from the Penalty Mark

Present Text

If at the end of the match and before the kicks start to be taken from the penalty mark, one team has a greater number of players than their opponents, they must reduce their numbers to equate with that of their opponents and the team captain must inform the referee of the name and number of each player excluded.

Proposed Text

If at the end of the match and before the kicks start to be taken from the penalty mark, one team has a greater number of players than their opponents, they must reduce their numbers to equate with that of their opponents and the team captain must inform the referee of the name and number of each player excluded, the player who is excluded must not be the goalkeeper.

Amendment to Proposed Text

(Submitted by FIFA)

If at the end of the match and before the kicks start to be taken from the penalty mark, one team has a greater number of players than their opponents, they must reduce their numbers to equate with that of their opponents and the team captain must inform the referee of the name and number of each player excluded. Any player so excluded may not participate in kicks from the penalty mark.

7. The Technical Area

(Submitted by FIFA)

Present Text	Proposed Text
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Only one person at a time is authorised to convey tactical instructions and he must return to his position after giving these instructions 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Only one person at a time is authorised to convey tactical instructions from the technical area.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The coach and other occupants of the technical area must behave in a responsible manner. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The coach and other occupants of the technical area must behave in a responsible manner.

Reason

In order to avoid unnecessary conflicts between fourth officials and coaches or other occupants of the technical area, it is proposed that, provided they behave in a responsible manner, these persons be permitted to remain in the technical area and no longer be required to return to their position on the bench after conveying tactical instructions.

8. Laws of the Game

(Submitted by FIFA)

New graphics throughout the Laws of the Game.

Reason

At present, various styles of graphic appear in the Laws of the Game. It is proposed that the existing graphics be replaced with images of a single, contemporary style and that these graphics also be used in teaching materials and training courses to improve recognition of the concepts illustrated and thus promote more uniform understanding and implementation of the Laws of the Game.

IV. ITEMS FOR DISCUSSION AND DECISION

(Submitted by FIFA)

FIFA wishes to report on the experiment conducted during UEFA U-19 European Championship qualifying tournaments in Slovenia, Hungary and Cyprus in October and November 2008.
