FIFA Good Practice Guide on Diversity and Anti-Discrimination

Dear Sir or Madam,

Under article 4 of the FIFA Statutes, FIFA expects its member associations to pursue a policy of zero tolerance towards discrimination, treating everyone with the respect and recognition they deserve, both on and off the pitch.

For your continued support in this area, we are delighted to present you with the updated version of the FIFA Good Practice Guide on Diversity and Anti-Discrimination, which you can download in English, French, Spanish and German by clicking on the relevant link below:

- French: <http://fr.fifa.com/goodpracticeguide>
- Spanish: <http://es.fifa.com/goodpracticeguide>
- German: <http://de.fifa.com/goodpracticeguide>

The original guide was sent to you with circular no. 1503 on 9 October 2015. This revised version incorporates all of the latest developments along with new examples for your structural and practical work to promote diversity and anti-discrimination in football. It will also help you to review and update your national action plans in this area. In this regard, we would like to underline how crucial it is that you implement measures that include dialogue with governmental and non-governmental groups of experts, particularly fan groups and individual fans, as a necessary adjunct to control mechanisms and disciplinary procedures.

We therefore encourage you to provide us with your updated action plans and new practical examples on an ongoing basis so that we can continue the process of exchanging best-practice knowledge gained from successful projects around the world designed to promote diversity and anti-discrimination.

Yours faithfully,
